

Checklist: Changing the Big Idea

- The big idea is explicitly stated
- It's used early on in a communication
- It's used to signal what your issue is about, and why it matters
- It promotes collective action
- No competing or untested big ideas present
- It is reinforced throughout written and/or spoken content
- It is reinforced or illustrated with images