Future Preparation

Why does it matter? What's at stake?

The story you're telling:

"We need to ensure that our future leaders have the skills required to tackle the problems of tomorrow."

Strategically redirects thinking away from patterns such as:

- Back to Basics • Compartmentalization • Consumerism
- Passive Learning • Technology is Dangerous

Concepts and ideas included in this frame element:

- Getting ready for the future is a matter of preparation and planning.
- Collective preparation is needed for community/society-level challenges.
- Today's students are our future leaders – we all have a stake in building an education system that fosters the skills we need our leaders to have.
- We must prepare children to take up their social and civic roles in our communities; this is one way we keep our democracy strong.
- Sense of urgency: We must plan now for a complex and unpredictable future.
